

The College is currently piloting the use of virtual lab technology. These labs allow students, faculty, and staff access to lab materials and software at any time from any location.